OHIO TO FEED
10,000 HUNGRY
SCHOOL PUPILS

State Provides Money To Care for Horde of Undernourished Children.

TO GET TWO MEALS DAILY

Movement Starting in Coal District To Extend Over All Sections.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 3.—Ten thousand Ohio school children suffering from the lack of food, will be fed by the state unemployment and relief committee. It was announced today.

Feeding of the children will be started immediately, with the first meal to be served in Athens county where 7,000 bituminous coal miners are now on strike in protest against a wage reduction.

To Extend Movement
At first it is planned to care for children in sections where relief committees are short of funds and materials, later extending to all sections of the state.

Two meals will be provided daily.
Breakfast will consist of cooked cereal, wheat, milk and eggs. Lunch will be composed of vegetable soup and cooked mush with syrup. It is estimated the cost of feeding each child will be one cent for breakfast and one and one-half cents for lunch.
Money to purchase the food was made available today by the state emergency board which appropriated $25,000. The children will be fed from now until the end of the school year.

Woman Heads Work
Miss Irma Weinbrenner of the state relief department will head the emergency relief organization in Athens county. She will demonstrate ways to prepare the relief meals throughout the county.

The state appropriation will be used for feeding purposes, while the $31,000 obtained by the state from round robin charity football games held last fall will be used to provide shoes and clothing.

INVESTIGATORS NEAR
END OF PRISON PROBE

Committee Silent on Suggested Calling of Gov. White for Testimony.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 3.—Silent on a suggestion that Governor White and members of the parole board be called as witnesses, the Ohio senate committee on penal and welfare administration today entered the final phase of its investigation of alleged brutality and mismanagement at the state penitentiary here.

The suggestion was made by Miss Leona Marie Esch, secretary of the Cleveland association for criminal justice, after she told the committee yesterday that state officials were subjected to pressure to obtain the release of convicts.
She emphasized, however, that there was no reason to question the integrity of any parole officer or high state official.

Miss Esch testified the pressure was applied by attorneys who collected money from prisoners' relatives on the promise they would obtain pardons or paroles.
Next week the committee plans to visit the London prison farm and the Junction City brick plant.
Last week the investigators went to the Soldiers' and Sailors' home at Sandusky.

After asserting she was certain no money had been accepted by any state official in connection with paroles, Miss Esch testified that prisoners had won their freedom through misrepresentation of the facts in their cases.

JOHNSON ASKED TO ENTER OHIO RACE

Warner To Return Today After Placing Invitation with Senator.

Fred W. Warner, former Ohio Republican leader and opponent of the primary campaign of President Hoover in Ohio, was expected to return to Marion this afternoon after definitely placing an invitation in Washington yesterday for Senator Hiram Johnson of California to go into the Republican presidential campaign in this state.

"I left word with Senator Johnson that with any reasonable effort, if the senator wants to come in, he can carry the state primary," Warner is quoted as saying by the Associated Press.

Senator Johnson, bedfast with an attack of influenza, did not send out any comment on the statement left for him by Warner, nor was he able to receive Warner personally.
Warner was also credited by the dispatch with having stated that Mrs. Wilma Sinclair LeVan, of Steubenville, Republican committeewoman from Ohio, had no part in the opposition to Hoover. Efforts of Washington newspaper men to obtain a statement from Warner and Sherman Eagle a newspaperman from Gallipolis, and a former state Republican committee chairman, who accompanied Warner to Washington, were unsuccessful yesterday.

CENTRAL OHIO
DENTISTS AT MEETING HERE

Fifty Men from Nine Counties at Annual Session in Hotel Harding.

THREE OFFICERS ELECTED

Dr. J. C. Thuma of LaRue Will Become President of Group in May.

More than 50 dentists from nine counties in central Ohio today chose officers in the morning session of the annual meeting at Hotel Harding of the Central Ohio Dental society. Only one new officer was elected, Harry Jones of Delaware, who was chosen vice president, succeeding Harry L. Knox of Mansfield, who will become president-elect in May. John H. Bristor of Mansfield, secretary, and Frank C.
McCaughy of Gallion, treasurer, were reelected. Dr. McCaughy has held this office for 20 years.

Dr. J. C. Thuma of LaRue, president-elect, will become president in May when W. H. Wolford of Mansfield retires as president.

Eight members of the Mansfield delegation failed to appear at the meeting. Rumors were current in Mansfield and Gallion that they had met with an automobile accident.
No confirmation could be obtained late today.

The business session adjourned at noon for luncheon at the hotel. The afternoon session was devoted to a lecture clinic conducted by Dr. R.
H. Taylor of Chicago, a consulting mechanical technician. Dr. Taylor outlined to the dentists new ideas in various scientific studies, answering questions concerning them.
Dentists attending the meeting represented Marion, Union, Richland, Morrow, Ashland, Wyandot, Crawford, Delaware and Hardin counties.

H. L. Semans, dean of the college of dentistry of Ohio State university at Columbus, was a guest.

FALL DENIED SHORTER TERM

Former Cabinet Member Must Serve Full Time for Taking Bribe.

HEALTH NOT IMPAIRED

Secretary Under Harding Faces Extra Month If Fine Not Paid.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Albert B. Fall must stay in prison for a bitter end of his term imposed on him for accepting a $100,000 bribe while secretary of the interior.
Last night the federal parole board declined to shorten his sentence of a year and a day, plus $100,000 fine. The two men and one woman who compose the board said Fall's release would be "unjustifiable and incompatible with the welfare of society."

Fall, seventy years old, is in the New Mexico state penitentiary at Santa Fe. Allowing time off for good behavior his term will end May 8, but either the fine must be paid then or he must take a poverty oath, and remain incarcerated for an extra 30 days.
He was the only man convicted in trials which followed the oil land lease scandal of the Harding administration. Edward L. Doherty, from whom came the $100,000, was acquitted of the charge of giving Fall a bribe.

The board failed to find any evidence that Fall's poor health was being aggravated.

KILLED BY PATROLMAN

unidentified man was shot by Patrolman Paul Emmons.

No One Missing,
Will Finds in Geneva Survey

(Will Rogers Special) GENEVA, Feb. 3.—This is the hash of nations. There are 65 nations represented here.
You see this is land disarmament, too, no every nation with railroad fare and a gun is here.

The smaller the nation, the bigger the delegation. If you disarmed the delegation you would have disarmed over half the countries represented.
Turkey is here, not to disarm, but to try and book some war for the coming season.

The conference opens today alphabetically, with Abyssinia the keynote speaker.
There is lots of nations here willing to throw away two spears and a shield for every battle ship we sink.

Went into another huddle today with Doc Wooley. I am strong for Doc.

The American delegation held a skull practice today with the American press. Each delegate spoke. All bemoaned the fact that both Congress and the senate had disarmed the American delegation of $100,000, leaving them only $300,000 to argue on. So our delegation, on account of this, opens about half sore at the world, anyhow. Yours,

6 DEAD LISTED
AFTER SHOCKS
AT SANTIAGO

Thirty Injured Included in Toll from Tremors

PROPERTY LOSS HIGH

Few Buildings Unscathed in City, Is Report: Believe Americans Unhurt.

By The Associated Press
SANTIAGO, Cuba, Feb. 3.—A series of earthquakes wracked this city early today, but early estimates of the casualties were found to be too high with the issuance of an official announcement placing the number of dead at six and the number of injured at 30.

Property damage was extensive and few buildings escaped unscathed. The walls of a small materially hospital collapsed and it was reported that a mother with new born twins had been killed.

The first shock, shortly after 1
a. m., affected only the business district, but word of the quake spread quickly and threw the city into a panic.

First Estimate High

Immediately there came a flood of rumors which said 1500 had been killed and at least as many injured. When cooler heads looked over the list of casualties melted away.

Mayor Aznar ordered the gas and electric services shut off to prevent fire and sent word to Havana that the local authorities could handle the emergency. Nevertheless United States Ambassador Gugenheim started from Havana by air, a number of other government officials headed for Santiago and relief organizations mobilized their facilities.

Very few Americans live in this vicinity and it was thought none of them had been hurt.

Jail Walls Collapse

In quick succession lighter shocks followed the first. The walls of the jail fell in, but most of the inmates escaped and those who were not hurt went to work with police and such troops as were available, clearing up the debris and standing guard to prevent looting.

The two tall towers of the imposing cathedral were thought to have been cracked and it was feared they might topple into the street.

At dawn brought realization of the extent of the ruin plans were already heading outward with medical supplies for the stricken inhabitants of the town.

They started from Havana, at the opposite end of the island, and later two more large flying boats took off from Miami.

Pending their arrival rescue work went forward swiftly, ambulance and morgue wagons trundling continuously through the littered streets and doctors and nurses working against time to save the more seriously injured and ease the pain of those less critically hurt. Accurate estimate of the dead and injured was impossible in the early hours of the day.

First Shock at 1:40 a. m.
The first shock struck at 1:40 a. m., while the city slept, followed by others that caused death and destruction through the business and residential sections. The terrified populace scarcely had caught its breath before a second shock caused more damage than the first.

Survivors immediately began a frenzied search for the injured whose cries were heard above the rumblings of the disaster.

The Swift & Company building was destroyed and the headquarters of the Moncada army barracks and the Cathedral club of San Carlos were badly damaged.
Streets were filled with debris.

The first tremor caused little damage.
Thousands of men, women and children, spared from death or serious injury in the first shock, poured into the dark and narrow streets in night clothing, stampeding for comparative safety of the city's parks and open squares.

The second shock came without warning, however, and shook the city with such sudden violence that massive blocks of stone set centuries ago and undisturbed by other disastrous earth shocks were shaken from their places.

By the Associated Press
KINGSTON, Jamaica, Feb. 3.—A severe earthquake which lasted about eight seconds was felt here today, but there was no damage.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—The American consulate at Santiago was rendered unsafe by the earthquake early today.

MAN OVERCOME
BY GAS FUMES

Death of Aged Charleston, W.
Va., Resident Caused by Fumes from Stove.

IDENTIFIED BY LETTER

Rented Three-Room Apartment on Holmes Place Saturday; Gave No Name.

The body of a man believed to be James M. Flynn, about 70, of Charleston, W. Va., was found today in a three-room apartment at 224 Holmes place. Death, according to Coroner Kenneth D.
Smith, had been caused by carbon monoxide gas from a burning gas stove without a flue.

Identification was made by a letter found among his possessions.
It was addressed to him at Charleston, W. Va., from Little Nowell of 414 Lear street, Newark, and was postmarked in 1930.

The body was discovered by Vernon McCormick, occupant of an adjoining apartment, who forced entrance to the room when Mrs.
Mary Jennings, landlady, failed to arouse the man.

The man rented the apartment last Saturday night, but did not give his name or address. Some railroad papers were found among his belongings. He was last heard last night when he talked to Mrs.
Jennings.

The body was partially clothed, lying on a wicker sofa. There was no indication of violence. Police said he has been seen in Marion recently.

'HARMONY PROGRAM'
APPROVED BY PARTY

Ohio Democrats Indorse Plan To Support White for Presidency.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 3.—The
"harmony program" of Henry G.
Brunner, chairman of the Ohio Democratic executive committee, had the approval today of the party's state central committee.
Indorsement of the program calling for a delegation to the national convention pledged to support Governor George White as first choice for president was voted unanimously by the central committee yesterday.

The committee also indorsed Governor White, U. S. Senator
Robert J. Bulkley and Lieutenant Governor William O. Pickrel for selection.

Brunner said the program was drawn up with the approval of former Governor James M. Cox, Senator Bulkley and Newton D.
Baker, former secretary of war, all potential presidential candidates.

W. W. Durbin of Kenton, former state committee chairman, urged solid support of the Democratic ticket during the coming campaign which he said would find Ohio either "Democratic or doubtful."

LIQUOR TRAFFIC HIT

By The Associated Press
TOLEDO, O., Feb. 3.—The state is threatening the pocketbook of the bootlegger by invoking the old liquor law to assess a tax of $1,000 against persons in the retail liquor trade. Two alleged liquor sellers have gone to court in an effort to enjoin Lucas county officials from collecting the tax.

JAPAN DEFINITELY REJECTS PEACE PLAN

By The Associated Press
TOKYO, Feb. 3.—Japan is understandably opposed to any proposal for neutral participation in negotiations regarding Manchuria.
Kenkichi Yoshizawa, the foreign minister, said tonight after consulting Prince Saloni, the oracle of Okitau.

Tomorrow, he said he will present to representatives of the powers participating in proposals to settle the Sino-Japanese conflict a reply composing a series of counter proposals, suggesting modification of certain points which Japan finds unacceptable.

The foreign minister talked for two hours with the 64-year-old prince, whose advice always is sought when the empire's vital interests are involved.

"We are eager to maintain the friendship of the other great powers," he said, "but at the same time we must protect the rights of Japanese citizens in China."

"Refusal to permit any third party to take part in the settlement of the Manchurian question is a fundamental principle of this government's policy," he said, "as it has been of former governments."

The Japanese announcement came a few hours after official word had been received that China had accepted the peace proposal in full.

The Japanese government at Tokyo, indicated the first four proposals of the Anglo-American peace plan probably will be acceptable.

Formal Japanese reply was delayed while Foreign Minister Ken-kichi went to confer with the aged Prince Saloni, last of the Japanese elder statesmen.

Yoshizawa's visit to the aged Prince Saloni was taken to indicate the gravity of the situation.

The prince, 84 years old, is consulted only on matters vitally affecting the welfare of the empire.

A foreign office spokesman said that the first four points present few difficulties toward reaching an agreement. These points call for a cessation of violence, no more warlike preparations, withdrawal of combatants from points of contact, and establishment of neutral zones to protect the international settlement.

COLDS

Education is spreading the knowledge that colds are caused by poisonous ultravivris (cold germs) breathed into the system. Now common sense tells us that this internal infection must be destroyed and driven out from within.

For colds, there is nothing to equal the germ-destroying tonic properties of Quinine combined with a gentle laxative, as in—

Typewriter Is Press for Weekly Paper Published by Central Student

Circulation Varies from Three to Six Copies; "Editor" Is Whole Staff.

MARION has a news journal, now in its seventh year, with a weekly circulation fluctuating from three to six copies.

Vernon Gilmore, 14, ninth grade student at Central Junior High school is editor-in-chief, reporter, city editor, telegraph editor, make-up man, art department, circulation department and business manager.

"The News" is a six-sheet paper, typewritten on both sides, and published for $1.25 a year. Delivered locally it is three cents a copy. In outlying districts the price is four cents and in Canada the price amounts to 10 cents a copy. Vernon has a wide, though limited circulation for his paper. One copy goes to his aunt, Mrs. J. M. O'Connor of San Francisco, Calif., and an uncle in Hamilton, Ont. receives one copy of each edition.

Getting out "The News" is a matter of something to do, the editor said recently. His time cannot be counted in the cost of publication, because he works only when he has nothing else to do.

Wants to be Doctor
Vernon has aspirations to be a doctor. But in the meantime, he plans to study printing and typewriting at Harding High school so that he'll be fitted for a job if the college education doesn't materialize.

With his parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Gilmore of 138 south Vine street, he moved to Marion last October from Copper Hills, Tenn., where his father was engaged in

Y. M. C. A. work. In Copper Hills, it rained a great deal of the time, and many of Vernon's spare hours were spent in a nearby printing shop, cleaning type and helping do odd jobs.

The News was "born" in Copper Hills in 1925 as The Journal-News Syndicate. The name was changed when the first edition was printed here.

Vernon's mother gave him a typewriter when he was six years old, one of the old Oliver machines, and he still uses it today, making three carbon copies of every page in his paper. His system is the well-known, widely-used "hunt and peck" method. In Copper Hills he acquired a small hand printing press. When his father moved north he brought the type but forgot the press, which threw the editor of The News into quite a predicament until the typewriter was brought forth and put into use again.

Business Booster
The editor has a crisp way of going out for his subscriptions. His notice to the public follows: "The bargain prices are still available for a subscription to The News because we see that four of the four people we sent complimentary copies last week did not send in for a subscription. The way to get us to publish a 12-page paper is for you to send in $1.25 for a subscription, and with this money we could get more type and better grade of news and better stories and a bigger paper. Yours, the editor of The News."

The News covers the world events of importance, and includes a column of Central High school news. In last week's issue "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow" was started serially.

The editor reads extensively, newspapers and good books, and many of the items in his paper are from the Book of Knowledge. His aunt in California keeps him posted on the west coast news.

Vernon was born in Columbus, Ga., and in his 14 years has lived in Elizabeth City, N. C., Camp Spangenberg, S. C., LaGrange, Ga., Copper Hill, Tenn., and finally Marion, where his father was born and reared.

COURT CONSIDERS TWO LIQUOR CASES

Kalkbrenner and Nicklode Appeals Before District Judges.

The second district court of appeals today has under consideration the cases of Herman Kalkbrenner, former proprietor of the Eastwood club, and Frank Nicklode of Marion, both charged with liquor offenses.

Both cases have been successful before the municipal and common pleas courts here, with Common Pleas Judge George B. Scofield sustaining Municipal Judge William R. Martin, who assessed them heavy fines.

In deciding their cases, Judge Martin ruled that the only intoxicating liquor legally possessed was that prescribed by a doctor or in the possession of the owner before the enactment of the prohibition laws.

County Prosecutor R. M. Wilhelm and City Prosecutor John Wiedemann represented the state in the cases. Ralph Carhart of the law firm of Carhart, Warner & Carhart, presented Kalkbrenner's case to the appellate court. Nicklode's case was submitted in briefs.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 3.—Circulation of petitions to place the name of Col. Carmi A. Thompson of Cleveland on the Republican ballot for the United States senatorial nomination next May has been started throughout the state. Col. Thompson said here today.

The Cleveland, however, pointed out that the petitions were circulated by his friends and that he has made no definite announcement of his political intentions.

Expected in Race

It has been indicated by his associates that the Cleveland steel man will enter the race shortly to seek the right to contest next November with United States Senator Robert J. Bulkley of Cleveland for Ohio's junior seat in the upper house of Congress.

Col. Thompson has been considered a prospect for the campaign for some time.

In 1928 he was a candidate for the nomination but withdrew in favor of Senator Theodore E. Burton of Cleveland, who died after serving a portion of his term.

During the incumbency of the late President William H. Taft, Thompson served in three national offices—assistant secretary of the interior, secretary of the president and treasurer of the United States.

Prior to that time, he served two terms as secretary of state in Ohio and as speaker of the house of representatives.

In 1922 he was the Republican gubernatorial nominee but was defeated by former Gov. A. V. Donahy.

The War Jogs Along Talk Will Not End It Gold Coin to Europe Queer Mother Mania

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb. 3.—About the same kind of news from Shanghai and the various seats of war, Japanese officials and Colonel Hooker, commanding our marines at Shanghai, deny that those marines were fired on by Japanese troops. That postpones for awhile "the big provocation."

Japanese tore down an American flag floating over a Protestant mission in Shanghai. That is wrong and hurts our feelings. Even the most ignorant Americans ought to respect the flag of Japan. But some of them don't.

If we were having trouble with Japan and Japanese missionaries here were flying the Japanese flag, and telling American children that their religion is false you would not care to insure that Japanese flag against violence.

YOUR YOUNG FRIEND WH Rogers, to imitate his own language, "pulled a good one" when he cabled from League of Nations headquarters at Geneva. "Well we are all here ready for disarmament. The first laugh was when the Japanese delegation arrived. A Japanese delegation, talking sweet peace at Geneva while Shanghai was being bombed from Japanese airplanes and battleships, seems slightly inconsistent."

Inconsistent also is the noble indignation of America and Europe denouncing Japan, considering that we have just concluded the biggest war in history twenty millions killed, two hundred and fifty billions squandered, half the nations of the world left bankrupt.

AMERICA AND BRITAIN yesterday announced a joint proposition to end Chinese bloodshed, cessation of violence, no more war preparations, withdrawal of combatants, immediate negotiations for permanent peace.

Wall Street took this talk seriously. Prices went down under the mistaken impression that talk can end war. Wall Street agrees with the drunkard who on the morning after takes more whiskey with the remark "The hair of the dog that bit you." High finance thinks more war would temporarily cure the 1914 bite.

SPOKESMEN for New York bankers, suddenly turned austere, announce: "We shall not make any loans to Japan or China to help them to finance this war."

Those bankers having sent thirty-five thousand million dollars to foreign countries in the last few years, to finance armaments and all sorts of things, probably feel that they have done their share.

NEW YORK BANKERS it is announced, will make no more shipments of American gold to Europe, or at least discourage such ship-

FAIR BOARD TO REVISE PREMIUMS

The Marion county fair board today began a complete revision of its premium lists and entry fees as a step in the program to localize the county fair and to put it on a sound financial basis.

The general trend of the revisions will be to increase entry fees and reduce premiums, making each department as near self-supporting as possible.

It was indicated that clauses in the by-laws might be revised to favor exhibitors residing within the county.

DOROTHY MACKALL HAS NO COMPETITION IN PICTURE AT OHIO

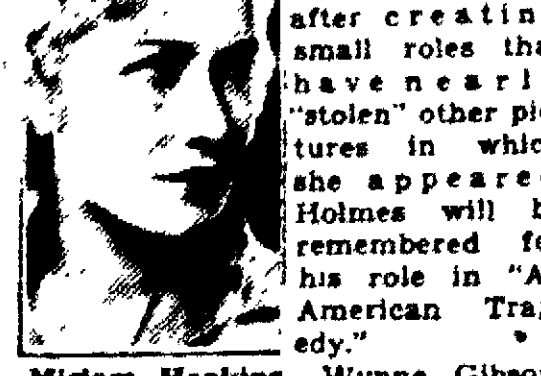

Dorothy Mackall stars in "Safe in Hell," which will show at the Ohio Thursday, Friday and Saturday. She is billed as "Gilda, pawn of fate."

Don Cook, the former Hartman stock company lead is her leading man, with Ralf Harolde, Morgan Wallace, Ivan Simpson and Victor Varconi listed in supporting roles. Only one other woman

MIRIAM HOPKINS IN PALACE PICTURE

"Two Kinds of Women" which will be at the Palace Thursday and Friday, brings Miriam Hopkins and Phillips Holmes in the featured roles. Miss Hopkins is coming into her own, after creating small roles that have nearly "stolen" other pictures in which she appeared. Holmes will be remembered for his role in "An American Tragedy."

SCHOOL PRESENTED EDISON PICTURE

The presentation to J. E. Frew, as principal at the Thomas A. Edison Junior High school, of a large framed picture of the famous inventor after whom the school was named, featured the weekly luncheon meeting of the Rotary club held at the Hotel Harding at noon yesterday.

The picture was hung at the school yesterday afternoon where it is expected a formal presentation to the school of the picture will take place at a later date.

GIVEN $100 FINE ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Charles E. Dille, 28, of 433 Park street, was fined $100 and costs by Municipal Judge W. B. Martin yesterday afternoon when he pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal possession of intoxicating liquor. Police say they found three-fourths of a gallon of wine and a pint and a half of whisky in a search at the Dille home.

MINISTER TO TALK ON "PASSION PLAY"

Rev. John A. Jordan of Pittsburgh, Pa. will be the guest of Epworth M. E. church tonight at 7:30 when he will give an illustrated lecture on the subject, "The Passion Play."

The pictures in his collection are from the Oberammergau Passion play, depicting the life of Christ. No admission charge will be made. The official board of the church will meet at the close of the lecture.

The Stars Say—

For Thursday, Feb. 4.

THE friendliest of stars intervening in the affairs of man, namely the beautiful planet Jupiter, bears rule over the events of this day, promising the assistance and friendship of those in places of power and authority, bringing promotion, honors and fulfilled ambitions. However, be careful with strangers, be on guard against petty jealousies and treachery. A child born on this day should be energetic, ambitious and practical, blessed with much personal popularity and nobility of character. It should be careful in traveling. Notable Nativity: Charles Augustus Lindbergh, aviator.

COURT NEWS

Sues for Divorce

A charge that he took her wages to buy tobacco and liquor are among the allegations contained in the divorce petition of Ann Johnson filed against Carl Johnson in common pleas court yesterday.

Green neglect and extreme cruelty are charged. She asserts that he was indolent and never furnished a real home for her. He struck her on one occasion, she avers. On Oct. 1, 1931, she left him after he had threatened her bodily harm, she said. The law firm of Carhart, Warner & Carhart represents Mrs. Johnson.

Affirms Lower Court

Judge George B. Scofield in common pleas court yesterday affirmed the decision of Probate Judge Oscar Gast in the matter of the Henry Hill estate, brought to the common pleas court on error.

By affirming the decision, Judge Scofield, in effect, holds that Sarah Millikin, housekeeper for Henry Hill, is not entitled to two $5,000 bonds as she claimed in exceptions filed to accounts in the estate. The housekeeper contended that Hill gave her the two bonds, but kept them in his strong box for her.

Denies Signing Contract

Clifford E. Hoch, as the Hoch Motor Sales, states that he never signed a contract with Baldo, Inc., for an advertising service which is the basis of a suit brought against him by the company, in an answer filed in common pleas court yesterday. If the company is in possession of a signed contract, the signature, he avers, the law firm of Patton & Wiedemann is counsel for Hoch.

Licenses Issued

Marriage licenses were issued by Probate Judge Oscar Gast yesterday to R. L. Thompson, a plumber of 523 Avondale avenue, and Helen R. Ingle of 856 Woodrow avenue; Arthur Hummel, 29, and Jennie Keeler, both of Prospect; Homer Adams, a railroad laborer of 990 West Center street, and Mildred F. Harris of 1017 West Center street.

Daily Proverb—"Do what you consider right whatever the people think of it, despite its censure and its praise."

"It is just a matter of temperament," remarks Morris Cohen. "Some like caviar, some like philosophy." Maybe so, but just at present it may be well for us to confine ourselves to something more filling.

The income of the New York Central in 1931 was $28,061,559 against net operating returns in 1930 of $67,235,527. Anyway, it's a clinch that prosperity hasn't turned the corner for the rail lines.

"Speed, noise and glare are the trinity of gods," according to A. A. Baumann, "which modern democracy worships as devoutly as any tribe its fellow." It is greatly to be feared that A. A. B. has been running around with his city's "fast crowd."

According to the Oil Weekly, this country produces 62.1 per cent. of the oil of the world, 880,101,000 barrels of the world production of 1,874,251,000 being produced here in 1931. That should smooth the ways in America decidedly, but the country seems to be encountering some rough spots, just the same.

Oberammergau is planning to produce the "Passion Play" again in 1934, but three years following its last production instead of the customary ten. If those Bavarians aren't careful, somebody will be accusing them of com-mercializing their production unduly.

It was the boast of Hugh McKuen, who died at the age of 105 in Colfax, Washington, last week, that he had done "almost everything one shouldn't do" for health's sake. That may be the reason he lived to his great age. His life wasn't shortened by following a lot of fool diets and other health fads so commonly adopted by the unhealthy.

Agricultural experts are holding that there is little change in the weather of this country; that, taking it over a long term of years, it will be found pretty true to form. Maybe so, but winters like the present must have been so far back in the weather cycle as to be beyond the memories of us youngsters between sixty and seventy.

Landing in Canada with but $500, Peter Verlign, now the leader of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood, commonly referred to as the Doukbohor organization, has accumulated a fortune of $720,000 in four years from contributions by members. Mighty few rackets are either so easily worked or so profitable as those worked in the name of religion.

The Paris paper, L'Intransigeant, attacks Ambassador Walter E. Edge, expressing the hope that he will not be returned to the French capital, but will be succeeded by John W. Garrett, our ambassador to Rome. The former seems to have annoyed the French by being somewhat more solicitous about the protection of the rights of his own country than the problems of the French republic.

Massillon's Predicament.

Massillon marched to the polls last November to vote for Coxe and easy money. In the excitement of the campaign, no one took the trouble to look ahead to the legal obstacles that might block the old campaigner's plans for twenty-five-year small denomination bonds that would circulate like federal currency and restore at least the appearance of good times.

The state tax commission has reported two obstacles. In the first place, General Coxe's proposition can not be submitted to Massillon voters, even providing that the council agrees to cooperate, until next November. It was planned to submit it at a special election, but no one bothered to read up on the state law covering that point.

In the second place, bonds of the Coxe type can not be issued beyond a five-year period.
Massillon could not retire them rapidly enough in that time to make them worth while. There is, therefore, but one hope left on the horizon —a special session of the legislature to indorse General Coxe's plan and, incidentally, to put Ohio on record as standing behind the experiment.

The general has been in the business of selling ideas long enough to know better than to expect a special session. Governor White has been urged to call one for more important matters and has thus far refused, saying that such a session will be called only in the event that cities can not meet the economic situation.

Massillon, it would seem, now has a mayor elected to do something he is restrained from doing by law. Perhaps he will make a good administrator. Even if he doesn't, Massillon got a lot of publicity, and it's still the only city of its size to boast a presidential candidate.

Byproducts of the War.

The direct product of the war that isn't war, but intervention by Japan in the name of treaty rights and for the sake of foreign trade, has been about everything the Japanese have planned to get. They have terrorized Shanghai; they have demonstrated capably that the Japanese war machine is well-oiled and superbly balanced, and currently they are engaged in taking Nanking, a secondary national nerve center.

There have been many important byproducts, also. Though naturally of lesser importance to Japan, they are of primary importance in the United States, chief of the interested nations by reason of its heavy commerce with the Japanese—commerce for which the United States opened the way, significantly, with the assistance of a frowning gun commanded by Commodore Perry.

The most important byproduct, perhaps, is Japan's new position in the international family. Good faith has been sacrificed for immediate ends. Assuming success in the Chinese campaign, the Japanese voluntarily have invited suspicion of their national program. By making trouble, they have laid the groundwork for more trouble.

Japan has taken the League of Nations off a plane of theory and brought it down to a plane of fact. The League's formidable sounding safeguards against a campaign of aggression have been defied. Technicalities have saved it from complete disgrace heretofore, but its position grows weaker with each fresh Japanese triumph against the disorganized Chinese, who dare not declare war and establish the issue on a new basis lest they get the worst part of the deal.

The disarmament conference in Geneva is made to appear like a futile gesture of idealism by the rumble of guns and the surge of the world's greatest navies toward the center of trouble. Secretary of State Stimson, who was to have headed our delegation, is busy in Washington, writing notes of protest. It is not likely that he will be replaced by another man.

Thoughts of disarmament have been forced to give way to thoughts of preparedness. It is a temporary setback of great seriousness, but there is no abatement in the desire for peace. The effect of the conflict on many advocates of disarmament is to show them that it is not armament, but human nature that is the real cause of war. Perhaps disarmament will have to wait on a few more generations learning to live under civilizing influences.

In the United States, following the first few days of frantic speculation, assurance is increasing that this nation can protect its interests by means other than warfare. There is little of the martial spirit here. Congress, sorely by the financial emergency, is frightened of the war prospect. President Hoover's attention is centered on the domestic problem.
Americans are interested observers, but they can not see themselves as likely participants.
The shock of the first few days of Japan's overt expression program has passed. There will be a saner attitude from now on concerning information from the latest theater of war.

France is suffering another scare. This time it sees itself at the mercy of any enemy in the air, holding that "even Germany" has better planes. But then, if the French weren't scared about the air situation, they would be about something else, so what's the odds?

Congress having passed the bill to make $125,000,000 available to the agricultural banking system, that and the $500,000,000 appropriated for the reconstruction corporation will make a total of $825,000,000 more to go out of the federal treasury for emergency purposes. It doesn't take an especially keen eye to see Uncle Sam's expenses grow.

Too Big To Handle.

Perhaps Chicago citizens find comfort in reading about disclosures of graft in New York City. Something must be necessary to take their minds off the trouble at home.

Under the tolerant eye of "Big Bill" Thompson the city was muled of tens of millions of dollars. The operation was performed painlessly under political anesthetics. Now that feeling has returned to the pocketbook nerve the extent of the injury is becoming apparent.

One man testified he was paid $2,200 for delivering one message. It is charged that an official spent $100,000 to tell voters what his department was doing. Tin pails came high at $100 a dozen. The faithful were rewarded with salaries for jobs that didn't exist. Officials sold material to themselves and pocketed the money.

It's a sad story—one that Chicago won't linger over in the telling. Reading it, reading New York's story, reading a dozen similar stories of political graft and brazen corruption, one can hardly avoid the conclusion that when the spoils of government are rich enough, there is no power in representative democracy to keep away the vultures.

Bells were rung in New York City, Tuesday, to mark the opening of the Geneva disarmament conference. It might have been more in accord with the eternal fitness of things had they been tolled.

The "missing supplies," for lack of which the soviet Russian great machinery plant has averaged but twenty per cent. of its assumed capacity production, have been found in warehouses in which they were stored and forgotten. This explanation, however, will hardly explain the fifty-two per cent. waste of the materials delivered to the plant. For some reason, production and "Liberty and Equality" are not chummy.

Playwright Elmer Rice, of "Street Scene" fame, told Clevelanders that the form of the movies is fundamentally uninteresting, and it is plainly to be seen that Elmer hasn't much hope of an improvement as he went on to say:
"In addition, the industry is in the hands of stupid men, and it is improbable that it will ever be in other hands." While on the subject of the movies, Mr. Rice might have given us his views on the sickly condition of the stage and the reason or reasons therefor.

BEING TAKEN FOR A RIDE.

Editorial Opinion.

DOLLAR STATESMANSHIP.
Having enjoyed himself thoroughly in his investigation of the international bankers, and having, it must be granted, spread a number of rather interesting details upon the record, Senator Johnson concludes his exploits by bringing in a pair of bills calculated to make the judicious weep and the amateur of American politics to pause. The senator's contribution to financial statesmanship is to propose a board, made up of the governor of the federal reserve board, with an absolute veto over all foreign bond loans. In passing upon such loans the senator's board would have to consider not simply the political interests of the United States which might be involved, but the solvency of the borrower, the soundness of the security and general financial wisdom of the investment.

The pleasant result which such a measure would produce must be obvious. Since even expert bankers are apparently not immune from mistakes, the senator's board would doubtless make sounder decisions than those of the board which has been in existence. When it appeared that this had happened the trusting investors, who had bought their bonds on the United States government's certificate as to their soundness, would immediately demand—(a)—that the government discontinue its marines to collect and—(b)—that in the mean while the government reimburse the citizenry for their losses. And the government could not very well refuse. After this had occurred a few times, with all the confidential embroilments of the official board would never dare to authorize any loan, and the United States would cease to be a part of the world economic system. Possibly that might please the senator, though it would make things a bit difficult for the United States.

The real interesting thing about the proposal, however, is not the proposal itself but the fact that it could be advanced by a statesman not immune to popularity. Fifteen years ago a plan to make the government in effect a quarantine among the people, a plan which would result in pledging the resources of the government to the safety of the foreign investor, would have elicited nothing but shocked astonishment among the populace. It would have been exonerated as the summation of all phrenetic wickedness. Have ideas changed so much—or have so many people gone in for foreign bonds—that the senator can now actually make political capital with the suggestion?
—New York Herald-Tribune.

From Our Readers.

"NOT REASONABLE OR FAIR." Editor Star:—I noticed an article in the Star last week that the water rate in Marion was the highest in the state. I believe any one who is paying water bills will agree to that statement without any argument at all. When a small family must continually cut down on the use of water to keep at the $18 minimum, while other cities enjoy a six-dollar rate with an abundance of water, then I say we are not getting a square deal.

This again recalls the fact that the gas and phone rates are still in the courts. Possibly if a reasonable settlement could be made on these and other utility rates were sliced down to a par that labor is having to take, it would make for a better feeling between employer and employee when necessary wage reductions are made.

It is not even reasonable or fair to expect labor to drop to new low levels, and still maintain the unreasonable rates asked by the public utilities. Other necessary items of overhead expense of the family budget can be controlled to a certain extent by the family itself. Public utilities are beyond us and we must have the help of those elected city officials.

Labor has taken a good reduction in wages, and another one in time, yet the utilities are still collecting rates that are unreasonable even in times of prosperity.

Can't our city officials keep after a refund and reduction in rates and give the citizens of Marion just one square deal?
—Louis E. Moore.

Dinner Stories.

"Do you think that man is a natural born orator?"

"I am sure he is not," answered Senator Sorghum. "He doesn't look well in a frock coat and a high hat."

Briggs—"What do you do when your wife starts an argument?"

Griggs—"Listen."

"Why is not your nation more musical?"

"Well," answered the American, "we undoubtedly have good voices. But I suppose we use most of them up cheering at baseball games."

Husband—"You didn't have a tag on your back when I married you."

Wife—"Anyway, I've plenty of them now."

Bad Eating Leads to Trouble.

BY ROYAL N. COPELAND, M. D.
About ten per cent. of the population suffer from ulcer of the stomach or intestines. It occurs in middle age, more commonly in women.

It is associated with bad eating habits and general lack of resistance. Infected tonsils, diseased teeth and other poor conditions are factors. It is found in persons whose occupations and working hours force them to observe irregular hours.

For many years "peptic ulcer" as the doctors call it, was believed to be strictly a disease of the stomach. It is now known to be one of the signs of a constitutional disturbance. Increase in the acid content of the stomach is an important factor in its development.

But the condition results not from one thing, but from a combination of many things. For years its victim complains of pain and discomfort, but never makes any serious effort to correct the condition. By taking bicarbonate of soda, or a similar drug, the pain is relieved.
Because of this temporary relief, no thorough measures are applied. Unfortunately this neglect often leads to surgery as the only means of cure.

As a rule, there is pain after meals. The pain is severe, burning in its nature, and is located just below the stomach. The eating of food, as well as the taking of alkaline medicine, usually relieves the pain.
Instead of severe pain there may be attacks of discomfort after meals. There may be a sense of fullness, or the burning sensation with acid belchings.

These symptoms are likely to appear from two to four hours after the meal. Another sign of this condition is a distinct hunger pain, felt about two o'clock in the morning.

When the condition is recognized early it can be cured by medication and diet. In the more severe forms, where there has been marked stomach distention, pain, more heroic measures are necessary. They are needed to stop the pain which is so intense as to cause the patient to toss from side to side with difficulty in breathing. Such a patient is sick indeed.

Since peptic ulcers are sometimes caused by infection in the body, it is important that the central focus be found. If there are diseased tonsils, they should be removed. The teeth should be carefully examined and given proper attention.

The patient is placed on a diet abundant in carbohydrates and fluids. It may include eggs and fish. It is better to have smaller and more frequent meals, perhaps five a day. The meals may be made of soups, fish, mashed potatoes, buttered toast, custard and other light food.

All fried and greasy foods should be avoided, as well as salt, pepper, spices and other condiments. Tobacco and alcohol should not be used.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES.

11. Q.—What would you advise for falling hair?

A.—The trouble in question is often due to some disturbance of the general health. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

M. D. Q.—What section of the country (in this state) would be most beneficial for a sufferer with chronic sinus trouble?

A.—Try to clear up the underlying catarrhal condition first of all—the best climate under the circumstances would depend upon the extent and seriousness of the trouble and whether or not it was due to a dry or moist condition of the nasal passage.

E. H. K. Q.—What causes aching pains in the legs, arms and back?

A.—This is probably due to rheumatism. It would be wise to have a urinalysis made. —

Ghosts Troubling Britain.

BY W. G. QUISENBERRY
London, Feb. 3.—U.P.—A new invasion of ghosts is successfully under way, judging from reports, and hardly a night passes now that some sort of specter doesn't appear either in London, or one of the lonely countryside villages.

Invasion of ghosts seem to be periodic in England, and help greatly to fill in the gaps at dinner table conversation. There are probably more haunted castles scattered over rural England than in the world, and in the small mining towns of Wales numerous folk still place great faith in the powers of faeries.

London ghosts usually take the more terrifying forms, almost always being accompanied by a clanking of chains or unearthly groans.
Usually they can be said to lack variety, but one or two recently seem to have been different enough to attract interest.

Such a ghost is the "Black Abbot of Fleet Street," whose appearance has been reported several times lately by typists working in the dinky, smoke-covered office buildings between Ludgate Circus and Temple Bar. He has driven some of them screaming from their desks. His visit usually is heralded, according to the stories, by a ringing of bells and by chairs hurled to the floor.

"I've seen him," said one man tenant. "A huge black outline like a monk, which flits across the wall and rattles all the furniture.
Sometimes, in the dead of night, all the bells in the place suddenly start ringing violently.
I've seen a heavy office chair leap up and smash against the wall, and the whole staff here is scared silly."

The legend of the "Black Abbot" is that an unscrupulous priest, during the great plague of London, took money from those who confessed to him, caught the disease from a penitent, and was buried in a pit in the neighborhood.

Then there is the Mansion House ghost, whose prowling is reported in the residence of the lord mayor himself. Sir Maurice Jenks, holder of this office, recently apologized for his wife's absence at an official function, saying she had experienced a restless night.
"Strange noises go on at night in the Mansion House," he remarked. Later, it was reported, he told of hearing "extraordinary" sounds resembling deep groans and a choking like the death rattle.

The lord mayor is not a superstitious man, however. He is sure it was the woodwork shaking.

The romantic era of the stage door Johnnie is over in London.

Twenty years ago they could be found outside every theater door. They wore gardenias in their coats, and their bansom cabs were lined up at the curb. Patiently and with suave detachment they waited for the ladies with the lively legs and the lovely eyes.

Now they have disappeared so completely that a theatrical columnist, chancing to note a lone survivor lingering outside one of the playhouses the other night, was so amazed he devoted most of the next morning's space to his unexpected discovery.

Some think the stage door Johnnie has been killed by a surfeit of beauty. He was most numerous at a time when chorus girls suffered little competition from their sisters toiling in shop and office who wore cotton stockings and had a defeated air about them.

The manager of one of London's most famous theaters, however, thinks young men now have neither the time nor the money to be stage door Johnnies.
"And besides, the girls are different," he adds. "Chorus girls today have to work hard at their dancing and singing, and usually they earn enough to be independent. They have no time for lounge lizards waiting outside the door."

Ohio's First Yale Man.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH
Seabury Ford who was governor of Ohio from 1849 to 1851 was the first Ohio graduate from Yale. He was born in Cheshire, Connecticut, as were most of the people who settled the town of Burton in Geauga county, but came to Burton as a child with his parents in 1809.
In 1820 he traveled the long distance from his western home to New Haven, much of the way through dense forest, to remain there through his four years, for to return home yearly was too expensive.

Ford was a powerful man physically, and for this reason was chosen the "bully" of his class. That was one of the class honors at Yale in the old days when the world over registered between young men of the city and the students, and strength, of course was a quality not to be overlooked.

Ford was trained for the law, and was in fairly successful practice for several years, but a fondness for public life resulted in a division of his energies largely from his chosen profession. He was repeatedly elected to the legislature and served as speaker of both branches of the general assembly. He narrowly escaped defeat at the hands of John B. Welles when he ran for governor in 1848, and was finally elected only after a hard-fought contest in the legislature. He was not reelected.
This partial failure in political life, and realization that he might have been more successful as a lawyer if he had concentrated on law, probably led him to give this advice to his son.

"Avoid politics and public life until by a careful and industrious attention to a legitimate and honorable calling you have accumulated a fortune sufficiently large to entitle you to the

been covered by insurance aggregating $55,320.

MAYOR VETOES HANGAR DEAL

Special to The Star
Fails to Approve Purchase of Building at Airport.

BUCYRUS, Feb. 3.—Making good on his promise of two weeks ago to give his right of veto, Mayor Schuler Tuesday night refused to give his approval of an ordinance adopted by council, authorizing the purchase of the building at Bucyrus city airport from the Kime Lumber Co., owner of the building. Council accepted the purchase but took no action. The written veto by the mayor states that the expenditure of $53,000 for the building would be duplicated for $100,000 for the price asked; that the building would mean an expenditure of $53 per year for fire insurance; that the hangar was too great a distance from the city for police protection; that the money now in the city fund be transferred to the city fund or that water works be purchased with the money.

Holtshouse claimed to have received permanent injuries in the crash. Attorney A. E. Leubold filed the suit.

World Same as Centuries Ago, Records of Aniquity Reveal

By International News Service
LOS ANGELES, Calif.—Gentlemen preferred blonds, and blondes preferred the argot known to the modern world as slang, as far back as the days of King Cyrus, Nebuchadnezzar and other ancient rulers. So says Professor Carl S. Knopf, archaeologist at the University of Southern California.

For that matter, in Prof. Knopf's opinion, the world of today varies little from the era of pompous kings as far as the essentials of life are concerned.

"The world of today is the world of yesterday all dressed up with new ornaments—the radio, automobile and airplane," he says.

Professor Knopf has a large collection of rare ancient documents, comprising crude legal papers such as real estate records, promissory notes and bulky ledgers and scrolls bearing puzzling hieroglyphics.

These documents bear out his contention that modern day business is merely a deviation from ancient bartering and transactions of the old world.

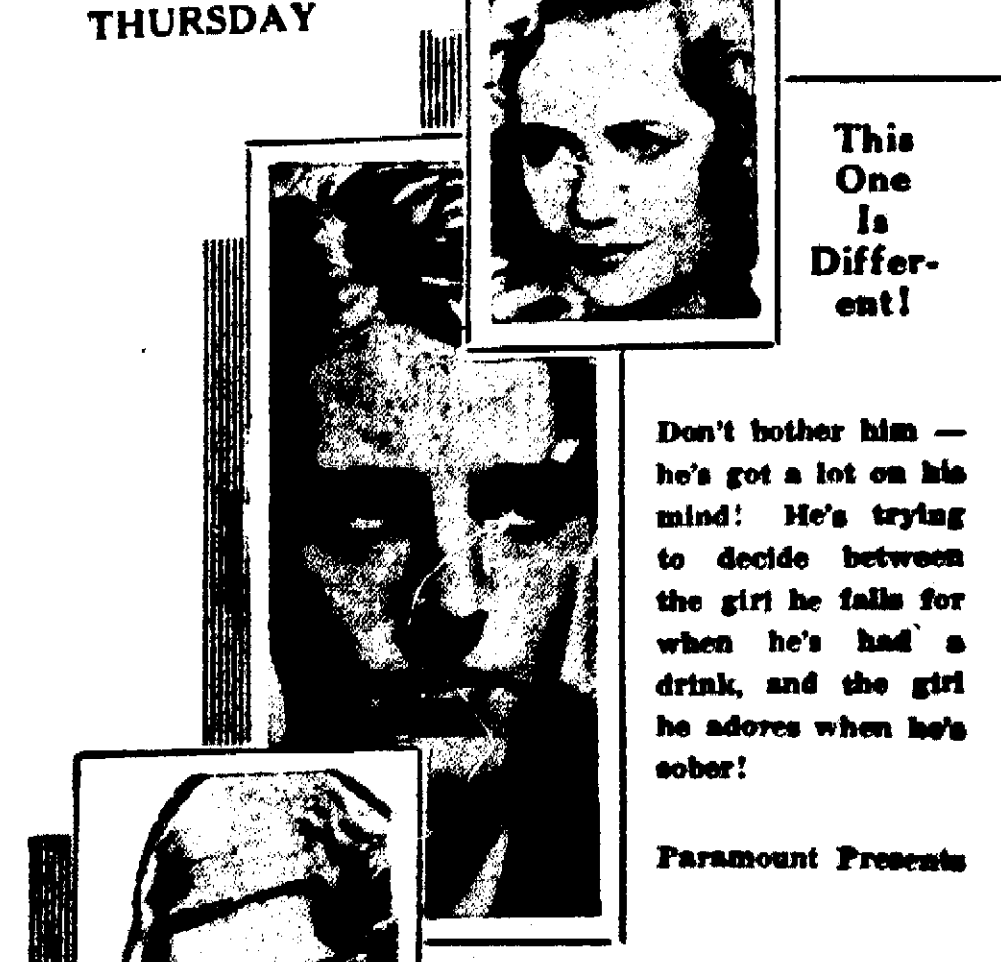

The age old papers dating back 4,000 years were discovered in Sumar, once a town near the Tigris and Euphrates rivers in the heart of the Old World.

The papers revealed that charming ladies, then as now, attracted men and that the populace had its different types of slang or dialogue much in the same manner as we inherit the brogues of our native sections.

Prof. Knopf has gathered material for a book in which he will translate hundreds of clay tablets found in Babylonia and unearthed at Warka. These tablets tell the

Duplicate Bridge League Will Meet
at Hotel Marion

The Marion duplicate bridge league will hold its first playing session Thursday night at Hotel Marion. Play will begin at 8:30 p. m.

Mrs. Helena Mouser Young will act as hostess and M. Porter Walley of Cleveland, the tournament director, will be in charge of play. Duplicate bridge, according to Walley is rapidly increasing in popularity.

Complete instructions will be given before play starts, giving persons who have never played duplicate, an opportunity to become thoroughly familiar with the peculiarities of this form of play. The duplicate bridge league here will become a permanent organization in the city if sufficient interest is maintained in the first series of 15 to 20 weeks, Walley said today.

Meetings will be held each Thursday night at Hotel Marion, according to plans and players may make up their groups in parties of men, women or mixed crowds. Plans include the awarding of a permanent trophy in addition to the weekly awards if the league becomes a permanent organization. Leagues have been formed in a number of cities near Marion and have become popular with fans playing both auction and contract. One of the newest leagues to be formed is in Columbus where meetings are held three times a week.

CHICAGO—Reading habits and the public library trend have changed completely in the last five years, according to the National Conference of Librarians in annual session here.

How to keep modern books of the younger generation from the hands of grandparents has become a problem, he sophisticated taste of youth must be satisfied by explorative and detailed accounts of life and world problems, said Forest Spaulding, Des Moines, Ia., member of the executive council of the American Library association.

"The circulation in every public library almost has doubled in the last two years and the young people are responsible by their demand for books on economics, biography, Russia, government, science and world problems," said Spaulding.

Among the scenes portrayed were Washington's farewell to his mother, his mother as "His Unfailing Comforter" and "The First President Gives Thanks."

Cooper, Mrs. C. S. Jamison, Mrs. H. C. King, Mrs. C. Metz, Mrs. R. L. Leeper, Mrs. C. J. Bever, Mrs. L. A. Axe, Mrs. L. S. Irey and Miss Irene Hubbs.

Your Child in

TWO WEEKS

How to rid any boy or girl of sluggishness or constipation and build a big appetite.

The trouble with children who will not eat is usually slugs. The symptoms are a tongue that's always coated, bad breath, poor color, dull eyes that are often a bilious yellow. No appetite, no ambition—even for play. Hard to get to sleep, hard to wake in the morning.

There's an absolute remedy for this condition. It gives listless youngsters the appetite and energies of a young animal! They eat! They gain! They keep well!

The California Treatment conquers Sluggishness

It's not the stomach, but the bowel condition that keeps children from eating. But the trouble is in the lower bowel—the colon. California fig syrup is the only "medicine" needed to stimulate the colon muscles. The very next day, your child is eating better and feeling better. Keep on with the fig syrup a few days and you will see amazing improvement in appetite, color, weight and spirits.

Any drugstore has the real California fig syrup, all bottled, with directions. Nature never made a nicer acting or nicer tasting laxative. (It is purely vegetable.) Remember California fig syrup when sickness, a cold or any upset has clogged a child's bowels.

WARNING
Even when it's something to give children some stores will try to substitute. So be sure the bottle says CALIFORNIA Fig Syrup.

BOY CRAZY

by GRACE PERKINS

SYNOPSIS—Rose's seventeenth birthday is around her as she waits for Dickey Dale's promise to marry her. She writes to Dickey, who is in New York, and tells him of her feelings. Dickey's father is a theater manager, and all the time Dickey is deeper and deeper in the theater. In all her high school days, Hope never known so many happy moments. She has been the attractive girl in West-
 The realization that she is going to marry Dickey. She signs a pledge that she will marry him, at his laughing and that he must make sure that she is his. The only flaw is her father's disapproval of Dickey, who is his father. Her father, usually indulgent, says that Dickey has "hardly a family for his little daughter to consider as a serious connection." Mrs. Ross is worried, and cold to Dickey.

(Copyright, Grace Perkins)

CHAPTER NINE Cold-Cuts at Tea

THEY made the usual gesture parents expect; Dickey murmured the best and shiniest phrases, but Mama Ross seemed a bit too tight-lipped for anyone's peace of mind. So the two, a bit subdued, rushed out.

Always out, Hope thought a bit bitterly as she climbed into Dickey's car. Always out with this particular boy. Why? But she forgot such thoughts as the wind whipped her face, and Dickey headed for town, where they would drop in on Hickey, he suggested, "and if they didn't like his party, they'd drop out again." But they did like it. There were so many celebrities there that thrilled Hope and a man who asked her if she'd like a screen test.

Such were the high spots of the maddest, gayest, most intoxicating winter.

Then came the crisis—out of a clear sky as a crisis is apt to come. Valiantly ignoring the fact that no one wanted him, but Hope, Dickey chugged up to the Rosses on Saturday afternoon in May—for a second consecutive week-end. And Mama Ross treated him very badly. Very badly indeed. After all, if your people are so fine that they consider others beneath them, they at least might act fine, mightn't they? But Mama Ross, despite her perfect poise and her flawless coiffure, just was plain rude. Was so rude that Dickey made a wisecrack that only brought a flush to Mama's cheeks and an I-thought-as-much-and-I-told-you-so look to her quick glance at Hope.

Hope dragged Dickey outside, and jawed him plenty about the wisecrack. Whereupon Dickey expressed a few opinions. And what can you do with people whose opinions are quite true and perfectly fair? Nothing, except act haughty and say "Well, just the same you needn't make matters worse—"

And refuse to go in to town to see his father. And what can you do when Mama calls you aside and tells you in words of one syllable that you must dismiss your guest, or else she personally will be obliged to forbid him the house? Whereupon she goes calmly upstairs, with Goody, freezing and haughty and disapproving, right after her.

Regardless of his arguments, Hope remained adamant against going to town. Instead, she had a new idea. Her folks had suggested, more than once, with an insinuating insult in their tones, that she let Dickey mingle with her friends, in her own environment, and match him up for herself. So after considerable argument, they both went to dinner at the Country Club. For the Saturday night dance.

But Dickey was in an irritable mood. He had suffered severely from the cold-cuts which Mama Ross had handed him at tea-time. He told Hope what he thought of snootiness and snobbery, and gave a long and bloodthirsty account of his own ancestors. They had fought Indians, those ancestors, and they had hacked trails through the west.

Practically, Hope called several friends over to her table. But Dickey continued to recount his family tree. Hope's heart sank. Grew numb. Became spiteful. Angry.

She got up and danced with Rusty. Candall. After several dances, with Rusty, she permitted the attentions of others. Dancing and flirting and laughing with Frisky and Don and Jed and Max.

Her heart aching, and the tears like a hard ball in her throat, because Dickey had disappeared. Wondering if Dickey had driven off to his father. Wondering if she would be facing the outrageous indignity of having no escort to see her home, and having to turn to Rusty—who stood understandingly—so beastly understandingly—ever at her side throughout the evening. "Oh, Dickey dear, I love you!" Laugh up into Frisky's face and say it's a funny line he's pulling Dickey. I'm not snooty or snobby. I'm not. My people aren't any better than yours. . . . You just don't understand them. . . . Dickey, where are you?"

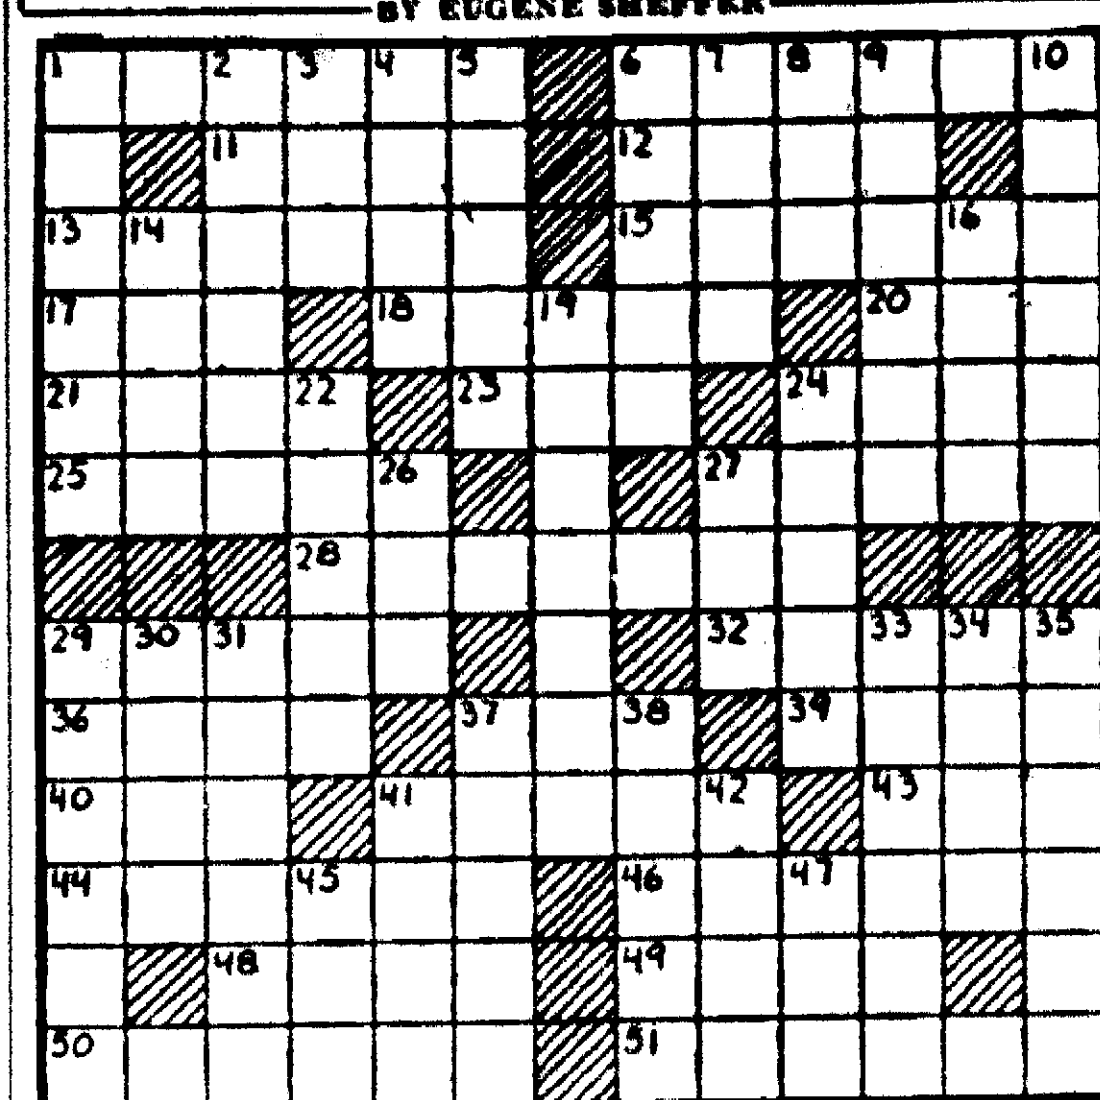

A firm grasp on her arm in the middle of a fox-trot answered her question. She stopped, gasping, to face Dickey. Dickey, quite white and very manly, with lowered eyebrows.

"Come on. This is about enough!" he commanded sharply.

Sotto voice: "Oh, Dickey darling. Thank heaven—you're here! But

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Madge, fearful for Dickey's safety on the secret trip to meet Hugh Grantland and Lee Chow, assured him of her undying love.

"OH, DICKY!" I opened my door at his knock and drew him inside the room with hands that trembled. My husband caught them in his and drove me up to him.

"What's all this, sweetheart?" he said. "Has anything happened? Junior? Faith? No, or you'd be with them. What's up?"

The fear that had been in me ever since Hugh Grantland's code message, but which I had sternly repressed because I knew that my father expected us all to be soldierly in his crisis, rose to my lips.

"Is there nothing to worry me except the welfare of the children?" I asked, and realized that my voice was shaking as if with hysteria. "You're going out there tonight, and Father himself says there is danger. Oh, I can't bear to have you go. Can't you stay here?"

Dickey's reproach. "And let old Harry go without me. Perhaps I could send your father in my stead." Dicky's voice was suddenly stern, then it softened, and his arms clasped me closer.

"I shouldn't talk that way," he said as he half lifted, half carried me to a big chair and sat down with me clasped closely in his arms.

"That's not my girl who was speaking just now. She's never been a coward, never failed to keep up her end of any load. You're just all in a flutter, and I don't wonder. Lie still and rest for a few minutes. We don't have to go yet."

"I know, Dicky," I answered him brokenly. "I'm terribly ashamed of talking that way. I just can't bear to have you go. If I could go myself."

"The clasp of his arms relaxed at once. "Yes, I suppose it would be quite a thrill to go to the rescue of—"

He said vehemently all the tender ones gone from his voice, but I turned and put one hand gently over his lips, the while I clasped him round the neck tightly with my other arm.

"Acute you ashamed to say that to me?" I demanded. "You know, I ought to that I had no thought of anyone or anything in the world except the wish to go into danger in your stead. Please, Dicky. You are going away from me in such a little while, and there is such a danger that I must be angry, or cross with me for these few minutes. I—I can't bear it."

He was clutching me to him now, lovingly, reverently, covering my face with tender kisses.

"My own girl," he said. "What a cadaverous wine I am the whole kind of me. I'm possessed of several devils every time I think of that man coming here. And it's all because of what I told you before. He's the man who ought to be married."

Presbies Hand Epworth First Loss in Seven Games

SPORTS

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK

FOR the second time this season two North Central Ohio league basketball teams are engaged in a controversy over the outcome of a close and hard-fought court conflict. This time it's Gallon and Shelby. The first time it was Shelby and Ashland. The first one between Shelby and Ashland was settled without much difficulty but the second between Shelby and Gallon threatens to develop into an argument of considerable note.

Shelby defeated Gallon last Friday, 24-23. Just as the game rounded the corner (the timer was not used) to end the game, Skahill, Gallon man, let fly with a shot that dropped through the hoop. Referee Sid Jenkins of Denison University ruled the Skahill shot was made after the game had sounded and did not count. Gallon fans immediately rose en masse to register a protest. The clamoring in the camp of the Orangemen has become so intense, Bob Elisinger of the Gallon Enquirer reports, that Gallon school officials are considering taking official steps to have the dispute settled.

The following is Elisinger's story of the incident.

So much protest has gone forth from Gallon fans on the subject of the Skahill shot that the Shelby-Gallon game Friday night at Shelby that action may be taken by Principal Swick of Gallon High school.

Referee Jenkins called Skahill's basket no good as the gun cracked, contending that the game had ended before the basket was started. He refused, of course, to let the game go on and has jurisdiction.

But argument principally lies in the time-keeping angle. From what we can learn Shelby allegedly had two timers and gave a Gallon man, Bodley, who was supposed to check carefully at all times with the timer, no say in the final decision as to when the game ended.

Referee Jenkins is blamed by many fans for his failure to have the timers straightened out as game began, and for his failure to confer immediately with the umpire, Pollock, as soon as he heard the final gong sound. Instead he rushed over to the Shelby timer who informed him that play was up before the basket was made.

All this time, Jenkins had not conferred with Pollock. Referee Jenkins will be asked by Gallon officials to put in writing as soon as possible his angle on the matter in which the game ended, and to justify his actions in every detail. The matter may then be carried farther.

CHURCH STANDINGS AGAIN DEADLOCKED

1931 Champs Win 35-32; Christians Stop Trinity; U. B. Beats Lee Street.

There will be no unbeaten teams in the city Sunday school league this season.

Victor in six previous starts, the Epworth M. E. quintet collided with the First Presbyterians last night on the Y. M. C. A. floor and when the smoke of battle had cleared away the Methodists had joined the ranks of defeated. The final score of the game which topped the Methodists from the list of the elite was 35-32.

In two other games played last night at the Y. M. C. A. Christians turned back the Trinity Baptists 41-35 to move into a tie for first place with the defeated Methodists.

HOW THEY STAND

Team	W	L	Pct.
Epworth	6	1	.857
Christian	6	1	.857
Calvary	5	1	.833
Presbyterians	4	3	.571
St. Mary's	3	3	.500
First Reformed	3	3	.500
Trinity Baptist	3	4	.428
Forest Lawn	2	4	.333
Lee Street	1	6	.143
United Brethren	1	6	.143 and Lee Street Presbyterians fell before the attack of the United Brethren, 35-20.

Dechond as champions of the circuit as a result of three beatings in six starts in previous encounters, the First Presbyterians attained some degree of comfort last night by beating the Methodists.

The Epworth defeat throws the race for the championship into a wide open battle between Epworth, Central Christian and Calvary Evangelical. The Christians and Epworth are now tied with six wins and one loss while Calvary follows a half a game behind, having played six and won five of them.

A Clear Victory

The Presbyterians made sure that no one could classify their victory over the Methodists as something of a fluke by starting right out in the first period and taking the lead over the Epworth five, never once relinquishing it throughout the game.

The score at the end of the first period stood 8-2 for the Presbies and the lead was increased to 19-9 by the time the half way point was reached.

With both sides hitting net with equal consistency in the third period the score moved rapidly higher but the Methodists were not able to as much as come close to overhauling the fleeing Presbyterians. The score at the end of the period was 29-20.

Battling to turn defeat into victory and keep the season's record unblemished, the Methodists put on a rally in the last period that swept the Presbyterians from their feet for a short time but the 1931 champions held on.

KAYOA DA ENGLISH

Italian Sports Jargon Mangles King's Tongue.

ROME, Italy.—The American spectator at an Italian football game hears a jargon of sports terms that sound absolutely strange to him—but the Italian thinks they are English.

"Goal," as shouted, becomes "golay," "match" becomes "maych," "off-side" is "oraziday," "corner" is "cornairn," "shoot" becomes "shutts," "stop" is "stoppa."

In hearing, "kick-out" is shouted as "kappa-cooley," "swing" is "aveengay." Verbal like "kick-out" and "box" have been converted into Italian verbs and are conjugated.

Tennis, swimming, rowing, have all drawn liberally on English for their terminology.

AGOSTA CARDINALS WIN FROM LA RUE

OLYMPIC SPORTS TO GET UNDER WAY AT LAKE PLACID COURSE

Injuries Place Crack Foreign Bob Sled Riders in Hospitals.

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer
LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Feb. 3.—While six of Germany's shattered, bob sled contingent lay in the village hospital, today, Lake Placid prepared to launch the winter Olympic games Thursday.

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt will start the opening ceremonies tomorrow. Jack Shea, a local boy who made good as a speed skater, will stand before him to swear the Olympic oath for 331 representatives of 17 nations.

A moment later he will face the starter with the speed kings of the world in the first of the skating races, the 500 metre dash.

From then until hockey teams clash in the closing event Saturday afternoon, Feb. 13, the greatest stars of the winter sports world will strive for Olympic laurels.

Mild weather of the past few weeks has given place to real winter.

There is ice a plenty and the mercury stays well down near zero. There was but one dark shadow in the picture.

REISELT WINS AGAIN IN CUE TOURNAMENT

Philadelphia Billiards Star Moves Nearer to 1932 Championship.

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—Otto Reisel of Philadelphia stood nearer the world's three cushion billiard throne today, as the result of victory over Johnny Layton, former titlist from Sedalia, Mo. last night.

Only Augie Kleckhefer, brilliant southpaw from Chicago, was a serious threat to the Philadelphia veteran. Reisel's record was ten wins and one loss while Kleckhefer had six victories and two defeats.

Reisel and Layton had met eight times previously in championship tournaments and Layton had always triumphed.

But Reisel opened a brilliant offensive and scored 27 points in the last 12 innings to win by 50 to 32, and virtually clinch the title.

Kleckhefer remained within halting distance by defeating Jake Schaefer, 18-2 bulkline king.

Johnson Thinks Senators Will Be in Thick of Race

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—With most of the experts, Walter Johnson thinks the 1932 American league race again will be between the Philadelphia Athletics, New York Yankees and Washington Senators.

"I'm not predicting any pennant for Washington," says Johnson, "not as long as Connie Mack can toss in Grove, Earnshaw and Walberg in six out of every eight games, but I do think both the Senators and the Yankees can make things interesting, and with a few breaks, I believe either has a chance to win."

LEVINSKY'S PILOT TURNS DOWN OFFER

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—What? Mrs. Lena Levin, manager of King Levin's has turned down an offer of $5,000 for the Kingfish to meet Jack Dempsey in a four-round exhibition bout.

The price, at least temporarily, Matchmaker Nate Lewis of the Chicago stadium made the offer last night, but Mrs. Levin failed to become excited at the prospect of watching her big brother work at the rate of $614 per second. She did, however, say she would think it over.

Hold Him, Fritz!

When Fritz Kley, German wrestler, now in the United States to try his brawn against American grapplers runs short of whatever is the equivalent of a sparring partner, he goes to the mat with his best friend, Fritz Kley. The German grab and growl merchant is shown with a toe hold on himself and, judging by the expression, he has almost subdued himself. Now if he could give himself one of those airplane slams.

PRESIDENTS' ALMA MATER OFFERS FISHING COURSE TO AID ANGLERS

By The Associated Press

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal.

Outwitting the wily trout may not appear difficult but a large part of the public—all politicians—subscribes to the sentiment expressed by President Hoover when he said, "Trouble with fishing is it's too long between bites."

So the university of which President Hoover is a trustee and alumnus has established the first class in an American university for instruction in flycasting and other phases of the gentle art, in the hopes that an educated hook may help solve the problem. Half of a quarter's physical education credit will be allowed for the course.

Public Interest High

Anyone who thinks the public is apathetic about its troubles in landing the finny denizens of lake and stream should read the fan mail of Charles M. Sprague, instructor of the class.

From every part of the United States have come letters. Some ask if he won't add a correspondence course, and scores have questions they want him to answer.

One writer wants to know why fish in a certain stream won't take his hook, but seem eager to swallow the very same fly on the line of a companion.

Long before the class was established, Sprague had been functioning as an unofficial information bureau for the fishing fraternity in the vicinity of Palo Alto due to his success as a fisherman and amateur maker of flies. He learned the art in Maine.

No Guarantee

But to forestall false hopes, he announced at the opening of the course that neither he nor the university will guarantee the person completing the course will be able to catch fish.

Proper form for casting, the care and preservation of apparatus and the handling of it so the trout won't get tangled up in his own line and wind up by falling upon and breaking his own pole are some of the things he hopes to be able to teach his proteges.

Knowledge of flies: the difference between fly and bait casting, the right grip and swing for distance, and something of the peculiarities of fish also will be taught.

Japanese 'Bobby Jones' To Compete in U.S. Tourney

By The Associated Press
TAMPA, Fla.—Japan's "Bobby Jones" is coming to Tampa to compete in the Gasparilla open February 18-21.

T. Miyamoto, open champion of Japan in 1929 and 1930, will be in the caravan of winter golf gold seekers and will be accompanied by Arthur Sato of San Francisco, who will act as his interpreter.

R. Asami and K. Yasuda, Japanese professionals, who are with Miyamoto in America making the winner golf tournaments, may also come to Tampa for the Gasparilla $4,000 event and to participate in other Florida events.

Asami is present open champion of Japan, and Yasuda was runner-up for four years.

The three Japanese stars are all small men, who take a wide stance and use especially long clubs. They are not long hitters, and in driving leading Americans hold a distinct edge over them.

The Gasparilla open is the inaugural tournament of what Tampa golfers expect to make one of the leading open tournaments of Florida as an annual event.

BAGS ELUSIVE BUCK

By The Associated Press
EL PASO, Tex.—W. W. Thorn-ton of El Paso, who never before had brought down a deer, bagged the 10-point, 200-pound buck which had eluded expert hunters for years in the mountains of southern New Mexico.

MAJOR LEAGUES BAN PLAYER - SPECTATOR CONVERSATION IN '32

Baseball Owners Complete Mid-Winter Confab Without Trades.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Conversations between spectators and players will be strictly taboo in the major leagues this season.

After the American league announced it would enforce the rule prohibiting conversation between spectator and player, the National league declared it would fine a player caught conversing with a posing for a photograph with one of the customers.

The drive was the more or less direct result of a published photograph of a major league star and a midwestern gangster.

Both leagues completed their mid-winter meetings today without completing a single trade. What the magnates didn't want to trade, but rather that they couldn't get together.

Both leagues reduced their staffs of umpires from twelve to ten and the National league appointed Walter Carter, former Yale star and fifth, or controlling director of the Brooklyn club.

ALL-STEEL REFRIGERATOR

"Choosey" People like the way they TASTE..

IT'S just what you'd expect. People who enjoy the good things of life...are constantly looking for something better to eat and drink...and smoke. Something that's out of the ordinary.

In cigarettes this better taste can come only from finer ingredients. Chesterfields are more satisfying to the cultivated palate...because there's never any attempt to skimp on Turkish leaf.

These more expensive...more richly flavored Turkish tobaccos are added with a generous hand...and 'choosey' people...everywhere...like the result.

In fact Chesterfield's new way of mingling tobacco flavors and aromas is really equivalent to creating an entirely new kind of tobacco...one that combines the best qualities of Turkish and fine Domestic leaf.

Perhaps you've noticed that the paper in Chesterfields is whiter...purer. Thousands of dollars were spent on research to perfect this paper. It burns without any taste or odor of its own. A detail, of course. But it adds immeasurably to your enjoyment.

Smoke Chesterfields whenever you like... They're mild and pure. They'll never tire you as an over-sweetened cigarette might easily do. Day in...day out...Chesterfields taste right. Light up and see for yourself. They satisfy!
